

Here I tell you in more detail how I learned about the Mandela effect

After the video I saw and what happened when I told you about the 2012 song

To those in the classroom and the teacher,

I went to check the cereal froot loops and it was true as I told them, however

Several strange things happened to me one day in high school before finishing 1st grade

The closest friend to number 9 and the boy I told you about the Facebook issue

And other colleagues noticed something strange and that we realized instantly

A mysterious door was closed, but as everyone looked through the peephole of the door

We saw that there was another room that we had never seen, but this one was just like ours

The strange thing was that there was no one and no teacher, a classmate managed to open the door

Somehow that I don't know, and when we entered we saw that room in more detail

And I had the benches to sit on and everything, but the weird thing is that there was no door

That is, there were only a few windows on the outside, but those windows only pointed on the opposite side to where we went out the door

But we had to close the door quickly as the teacher was about to come in

To the living room and we had to pretend that nothing happened, all this happened when number 9

And the other colleagues were not there, they never realized what happened to us

And we never talked about it again, however, days later when I was curious and

I remembered what happened to us, when I entered the room I immediately noticed that the door was no longer there

There was no sign of the other room, it was as if that door and that room had never existed

I was in shock, I didn't know what to say and the worst thing was that physically it was impossible for the classroom to be

I was there because I realized that there was nothing next to our living room, that is, there were only the stairs to go down or up

But the existence of the salon was impossible and it was also strange how it ceased to exist.

Also another thing a little strange was that one day when I went to high school number 9

I'm wearing a Batman sweater, it was the same one I had in my closet

I mean, literally, I was speechless because she was wearing the same sweater as me, only at that moment I wasn't wearing it

And she was, it was like I was connected to her in a certain way

I was about to talk to her about the sweater, but I decided not to say anything

It was like this, but without the hat.

When I was researching the mandela effect, I came across the channel called Community of light and also silent play

However, in the last months of 2019 I did more research and went to the website of the

Community of Light

And I entered their WhatsApp group, and I was watching and reading the group's chat

When out of nowhere somehow came memories and flashbacks of what happened on May 21, 2012 and December 21, 2012

And when the flashbacks were over, I told the person in the group to see if the Knew

Something, and he told me and told me that several people like me also saw something strange in the sky like an intense white light that blinded them

And they didn't remember what happened next either

And I was shocked to hear that, I didn't know what to say but

I was still researching and one day I met the gringo bone channel in that same year

And there was a video where he caught my attention and he said that the scene where Matilda appears

Together with the honey teacher

More specifically when they escape from the house of tronchatoro

Professor Miel asks Matilda to make her a promise never to return to Tronchatoro's house

And Matilda promised not to return to that house, however, Matilda when she made the promise

He took his right hand back and crossed his fingers and they were focusing on the action

And now it turns out that that never happened and that it only remained in our memories.

When I heard that I was shocked since I saw Matilda's movie for the first time in 2012

Just as my uncles and cousins took us home after the trip to the Huasteca

I turned on my TV and they were passing Matilda and I started to watch her and I clearly saw that

Scene where she did this action

Now, going back to the year 2019, I later wanted to check if what he said was true.

And when I saw the film again, it turns out that yes, indeed the scene was no longer there

It disappeared and the worst doesn't end there, I told my parents and my mom didn't believe me at first

But my dad didn't believe me either, but he decided to check it out by putting the movie on Netflix

And when he put it on, he fast-forwarded the movie to the minute I told him where she makes the promise

However, the scene as I said was no longer there and he made fun of me and didn't believe me, however

My mother told me and told him the same thing I remembered, that she too

I swore I'd ever seen that scene where Matilda crosses her fingers

However, when she saw that the scene was not there, she couldn't believe it and decided to believe me

But even so, she made a joke about my old dad no longer being with her and he was in another dimension and I was a little angry inside because despite the fact that I was not with her.

That she believed me, she made that joke and made fun of me a little and hugged my dad.

Finally, something that happened to me in that year is that one day on February 14, 2019

I let go of my stomach and skipped school because of that, however, my parents told me

That he will take a photo to number 9 and some little details is to say something for Valentine's Day

My parents took me in the van and we parked a little far from high school

And we waited for No. 9 to get out of high school and when she came out

My mom warned me to get off and signaled to number 9 to come closer

And when she approached me I gave number 9 the details and a photo which was a photo where

Me and she were hugging that photo was taken by my mom's friend when she number 9

She lined up for my birthday presents at a classroom party I threw in 2nd grade in 2013

And she didn't bring any gifts, but she decided to give me a big hug in front of my classmates and the teacher

And family members and that's the story, when I gave the photo to number 9 she thanked me

With a little childish and sweet voice, and after that I got into the truck however when we left my mom noticed in the mirror of the truck,

That number 9 was reviewing what I gave her along with her friends and my mom told my dad

It looks like she was telling her friends something about the photo, but she told my dad that she made a face

That is, as if she had not liked it and her friends told her something about no but my mom said that she thought she saw number 9 throwing the photo or give her the details and gifts that I gave her to her friends,

My dad

She decided to ignore that and we left, but I had my doubts at the time, but now years later I understood everything and what my mom meant at that time.
